Very few people realize that the worst epidemic ever to hit America, the Spanish Influenza of 1918 was the after effect of the massive nation-wide vaccine campaign. The doctors told the people that the disease was caused by germs. Viruses were not known at that time or they would have been blamed. Germs, bacteria and viruses, along with bacilli and a few other invisible organisms are the scapegoats, which the doctors like to blame for the things they do not understand. If the doctor makes a wrong diagnosis and treatment, and kills the patient, he can always blame it on the germs, and say the patient didn't get an early diagnosis and come to him in time.

If we check back in history to that 1918 flu period, we will see that it suddenly struck just after the end of World War I when our soldiers were returning home from overseas. That was the first war in which all the known vaccines were forced on all the servicemen. This mish-mash of poison drugs and putrid protein of which the vaccines were composed, caused such widespread disease and death among the soldiers that it was the common talk of the day, that more of our men were being killed by medical shots than by enemy shots from guns. Thousands were invalided home or to military hospitals, as hopeless wrecks, before they ever saw a day of battle. The death and disease rate among the vaccinated soldiers was four times higher than among the unvaccinated civilians. But this did not stop the vaccine promoters. Vaccine has always been big business, and so it was continued doggedly.

It was a shorter war than the vaccine-makers had planned on, only about a year for us, so the vaccine promoters had a lot of unused, spoiling vaccines left over which they wanted to sell at a good profit. So they did what they usually do, they called a meeting behind closed doors, and plotted the whole sordid program, a nationwide (worldwide) vaccination drive using all their vaccines, and telling the people that the soldiers were coming home with many dread diseases contracted in foreign countries and that it was the patriotic duty of every man, woman and child to get "protected" by rushing down to the vaccination centers and having all the shots.

Most people believe their doctors and government officials, and do what they say. The result was, that almost the entire population submitted to the shots without question, and it was only a matter of hours until people began dropping dead in agony, while many others collapsed with a disease of such virulence that no one had ever seen anything like it before. They had all the characteristics of the diseases they had been vaccinated against, the high fever, chills, pain, cramps, diarrhea, etc. of typhoid, and the pneumonia like lung and throat congestion of diphtheria and the vomiting, headache, weakness and misery of hepatitis from the jungle fever shots, and the outbreak of sores on the skin from the smallpox shots, along with paralysis from all the shots, etc.

The doctors were baffled, and claimed they didn't know what caused the strange and deadly disease, and they certainly had no cure. They should have known the underlying cause was the vaccinations, because the same thing happened to the soldiers after they had their shots at camp. The typhoid fever shots caused a worse form of the disease, which they called para-typhoid. Then they tried to suppress the symptoms of that one with a stronger vaccine, which caused a still more serious disease, which killed and disabled a great many men. The combination of all the poison vaccines fermenting together in the body, caused such violent reactions that they could not cope with the situation. Disaster ran rampant in the camps. Some of the military hospitals were filled with nothing but paralyzed soldiers, and they were called war casualties, even before they left American soil. I talked to some of the survivors of that vaccine onslaught when they returned home after the war, and they told of the horrors, not of the war itself, and battles, but of the sickness at camp.

The doctors didn't want this massive vaccine disease to reflect on them, so they, agreed among themselves to call it Spanish Influenza. Spain was a far away place and some of the soldiers had been there, so the idea of calling it Spanish Influenza seemed to be a good way to lay the blame on someone else. The Spanish resented having us name the world scourge on them. They knew the flu didn't originate in their country.

20,000,000 died of that flu epidemic, worldwide, and it seemed to be almost universal or as far away as the vaccinations reached. Greece and a few other countries, which did not accept the vaccines, were the only ones that were not hit by the flu. Doesn't that prove something?

At home (in the U.S.) the situation was the same; the only ones who escaped the influenza were those who had refused the vaccinations. My family and I were among the few who persisted in refusing the high pressure sales propaganda, and none of us had the flu not even a sniffle, in spite of the fact that it was all around us, and in the bitter cold of winter.

Everyone seemed to have it. The whole town was down sick and dying. The hospitals were closed because the doctors and nurses were down with the flu. Everything was closed, schools, businesses, post office everything. No one was on the streets. It was like a ghost town. There were no doctors to care for the sick, so my parents went from house to house doing what they could to help the stricken in any way they could. They spent all day and part of the night for weeks, in the sick rooms, and came home only to eat and sleep. If germs or viruses, bacteria, or any other little organisms were the cause of that disease, they had plenty of opportunity to latch onto my parents and "lay them low" with the disease that had prostrated the world. But germs were not the cause of that or any other disease, so they didn't "catch" it. I have talked to a few other people since that time, who said they escaped the 1918 flu, so I asked if they had the shots, and in every case, they said they had never believed in shots and had never had any of them. Common sense tells us that all those toxic vaccines all mixed up together in people, could not help but cause extreme body-poisoning and poisoning of some kind or another is usually the cause of disease.

Whenever a person coughs or sneezes, most people cringe, thinking that the germs are being spread around in the air and will attack people. There is no need to fear those germs any more, because that is not the way colds are developed. Germs can't live apart from the cells (host) and can't do harm anyway, even if they wanted to. They have no teeth to bite anyone, no poison pouches like snakes, mosquitoes or bees, and do not multiply, except in decomposed substances, so they are helpless to harm. As stated before, their purpose is useful, not destructive.

The 1918 flu was the most devastating disease we ever had, and it brought forth all the medical bag of tricks to quell it, but those added drugs, all of which are poisons, only intensified the over-poisoned condition of the people, so the treatments actually killed more than the flu did.

Since it is not online, I would need to purchase the book to provide all of the the authors' references. I do not know that the book is still available: <http://www.whale.to/vaccines/books.html>

It seems to have been written from first-hand experience. When combined with the article Innoculations: The True Weapons Of Mass Destruction by Dr. Carley, I believe it is a valid warning, and the authors reach reasonable conclusions.

I reprinted it from Dr. Rebecca Carley's site.

Yes, this information is true. I have read the accounts of this forming immediately following the use of the Typhus vaccine in the 1914 time period. The mad scientists had no more care or knowledge of the harm they were invoking at that time then when they caused polio with the use of monkey viruses or cancer from the adenoviruses and herpesviruses. There is a very well done paper on the Study of Epidemics and the link to vaccinations OR the vaccine manufacturing centers for the start of all epidemics of last 2 centuries. Merial vaccine manufacturer was the cause of the Hoof and Mouth Disease outbreak in the UK not too long ago. I know several researchers bringing out this information in timelines and the results are going to stun the general public. Vaccinations are the most dangerous and disease and death causing procedure in the history of man!

The "SIC" (scientifically induced causes) business?

After years of being ignored and threatened, Dr. Garth Nicolson of The Institute of Molecular Medicine in California announced in early February that the US Department of Defense has contracted with the doctor's institute in order to train scientists and physicians at the Department of Defense and others. These medical professionals will be trained to conduct the specialized testing needed to detect mycoplasmal infections in the blood of Gulf War Veterans. Dr. Nicolson has said the Mycoplasma incognitus and other mycoplasmal infections have also been seen in a high percentage of "Chronic Fatigue and Immune Dysfunction Syndrome" (CFIDS) patients (see winter National Forum, Vol. 1, No. 3). The rare form of bacteria he has found in both "Gulf War Illness" (GWI) and, "Persons With CFIDS" (PWC) who have been disabled for many years, are treated with an antibiotic therapy. The Mycoplasma incognitus found by Drs. Garth and Nancy Nicolson has a piece of the HIV envelope, but HIV is not found inside the envelope. Instead, a mix of different bacteria from other illnesses is present. This is not something that could happen in the natural course of evolution and is proof, Dr. Nicolson believes, of biological warfare. It is something that must have been man-made!

<http://www.ncf-net.org/forum/nicholson.htm>

There were several potential sources of chronic biological agents in the Persian Gulf Theater of Operations. First, deployed soldiers were given multiple inoculations of experimental vaccines in unproven immunization schemes, such as vaccines that were given all at once instead of using an appropriate schedule of inoculations. Multiple vaccinations given simultaneously can result in immunosuppression and leave an individual susceptible to opportunistic infections.

Target 5: Secret Shots

All military personnel who are headed to combat are required to take vaccinations. Are these shots leaving some soldiers deathly ill?

Vaccines are big business. The research firm Frost & Sullivan, predicts that the world human vaccine market will take in more than $7 billion in sales this year (2003). Along with this large market, vaccine manufacturers tout the miracle of vaccines in reducing the incidence of polio, diphtheria, pertussis, measles, tetanus, mumps, rubella, hepatitis and other illnesses that often strike children. There is no doubt that vaccines have dramatically reduced childhood illnesses; however, there is a dark side to the universal use of vaccines to control these illnesses. And the widespread use of vaccines has begun to be challenged by parent groups and physicians who recognize that although vaccines are important to public health, they can also injure. Children are especially at risk for injury from the multiple vaccines that are required for children to attend school in the United States, Canada and a number of other countries.

Autoimmune illnesses, opportunistic infections different from the infections being immunized against, chronic allergies and other conditions are rising at alarming rates in children receiving multiple vaccines. More and more physicians and scientists are now pointing to the scheduling of multiple vaccines as possibly playing an important role in these emerging illnesses. Chronic asthma is one of these illnesses. According to the CDC asthma has increased 52% in persons between the ages of 5 and 34, and rates of death due to asthma have risen 42% in the period between 1982 and 1992. A more recent study by the CDC indicates that asthma has doubled during the last 20 years and is now the most common disorder in children and adolescents. Among the children receiving multiple vaccines chronic asthma affects one child in seven in Great Britain and one in eight in Canada. The greatest increase has been in children under four years old. When researchers in New Zealand compared the rates of asthma in children that did not receive multiple vaccinations to rates in children receiving multiple vaccinations, those children who did not receive the vaccines did not present with asthma; whereas 23% of children receiving multiple vaccines had to have asthma consultations and 30% had consultations for other allergic illnesses. The researchers concluded that some component of the multiple vaccines received in childhood may have increased the risk of developing asthma in childhood.

Interview with Dr Nicolson

Are Vaccines Causing More Disease Than They Are Curing? 1999 by Alan Cantwell, Jr., M.D.

Everyday we ask ourselves what did we do that was perceived as so wrong that an entire government, or at least a very strong and controlling faction in our government and military, should mount a continual harassment campaign against our family? In truth, all we wanted to do was help our soldiers, and now their family members and many of our citizens, to overcome a horrific chronic illness that is diagnosable and treatable. We never intended to uncover a massive, illegal Biological Weapons development and testing program, nor was it our intent to embarrass the Defense establishment or certain sectors of the scientific community. Because of our naive faith in our government, we ultimately set ourselves up for a quest that involved betrayals from people with whom we have worked for over two decades and whose very careers and livelihoods were helped significantly by our unswerving loyalty. Some of these experimental vaccines could also have been contaminated with small amounts of slow-growing microorganisms. In fact, some of the vaccine lots to be sent to the Gulf were removed because of “microorganism contamination.” Dr Nicolson http://www.immed.org/testimony/gulf\_war\_illness/ct1198.html

Australian virologist Adrian Gibbs has gone on record saying the H1N1 virus comes from a lab.

Actually the most significant development in modern times is simple cleanliness. Public health awareness became a movement during the early part of the last century. Garbage collection and food safety were priorities. The related breakthrough in modern medicine was the concept of sterilization. Doctors, whether arrogant or otherwise, were very resistant to the idea that they were largely responsible for the incidence of post-procedural and post-operative infections. Without any hint of an understanding of microbiology it was assumed that infections were unavoidable and nothing could ever be done to reduce or alleviate them. You either lived through it or you didn't. Eventually they came around. Then people became less likely to die from complication following an injury. And less mothers and newborns were lost at childbirth.

We need doctors who understand the complexity of the human body but can admit that we don't yet know everything about human biology. They also need to appreciate that the body always wants to heal itself. It's a subtle shift in attitude lost on many people. Instead of trying to make the body do something foreign, focus on setting up the conditions that allow the body to do what it needs to do.

Here's an idea . . . let's use the world's best antibiotic to treat minor infections and rely on the side-effect prone pharmaceuticals for the truly worthy cases.

Resume Success Zone Blogger, on July 15th, 2009 at 9:22 am Said:

I've always thought that the basic concept of provoking natural immunity by gently stimulating the body's immune system to be a fairly good idea. Our family has been forced into the anti-vaccine camp because we questioned the modern developments of experimenting on the public-at-large, extending the shelf-life of vaccines through the use of questionable ingredients and zealously insisting on too many shots at once or too many shots in quick succession. In the minds of the one-size-fits-all medical establishment no moderation or even discussion is permitted.

We will want to travel with our children and recognize that outside of the states, we'll have to consider the possibility of encounters with diseases. If we cannot locate the exact vaccines that will meet our needs here, we may travel to find them elsewhere. For viruses, refrigerated attenuated viruses with no other substances is what we'd use. For bacterial diseases, there are better treatments. There's always the world's best, least promoted antibiotic. And there's a whole different line of treatment virtually unknown to the Western public because it would be difficult to capitalize on. Look up bacteriophage. They're very cool! <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bacteriophage>

To: sk (Stan) from July 13, 2009. . . . don't mean to be argumentative Stan, or too come across as an expert on anything, but there is a wealth of information out there. It is typical of basic, or common human nature, to simply accept the daily programming coming down from the Main Stream Media (MSM). It is also another basic human trait, to seek the "path of least resistance". It is not an easy task to de-educate ones self, especially if you've lived a long life thus far. I have provided some information below regarding "POLIO... a disease which killed millions of people". You may be surprised by the other facts, as indicated below. I can also provide similar types of information on Smallpox if you would like.

Polio
Diseases

"Provocation polio. That is the truth about those outbreaks of polio. And I offer a well considered personal opinion that polio is a man made disease."—Viera Scheibner, Ph.D.

[A non-infectious (1) man-made disease from medical injections and pesticides such as DDT that got into the milk supply—polio incidence in the US mirrored DDT usage (1). Made worse by the vaccinators' fad for tonsillectomy. The virus hunters were used to create a smokescreen, and bring in another profitable drug. The appointment of Dr Kumm to head up the March of Dimes polio charity was a big red flag for that. The real agenda of the Medical Cartel can be seen in their suppression of the non-drug treatments for polio, such as Dr Sandler's nutritional one, Dr Klenner Vitamin C cure, their lies to make the vaccine appear effective, and they were caught out recently trying to kill African children with the Oral Polio Vaccine (OPV), as Kihura Nkuba discovered.

<http://www.whale.to/v/polio2.htm>

One particular "critical theory" on the origin of AIDS however, is that it seems to have developed from contaminated vaccines, used in the world's first, mass immunization for polio.

Polio vaccines are grown (cultured) on monkey kidneys which may have been contaminated by SIV (Simian immunodeficiency virus).

It was not possible to screen Polio vaccines for SIV contamination prior to 1985.

In Africa, polio does not kill anybody, and they say it's very rare to catch the virus. It's also actually uncommon to get paralytic polio, and it only occurs in very rare circumstances, so what's killing so many people in Africa? Malaria!

Malnutrition is to blame for more than half of all the deaths of children around the world, especially in Africa. Poor nourishment leaves children underweight and weakened, and vulnerable to infections that do not necessarily have to be fatal. It is estimated that feeding children with an adequate diet would prevent; 1 million deaths a year from pneumonia, 800,000 from diarrhea, 500,000 from malaria, and, 250,000 from measles.

Knowing that measles often leads to a loss of vitamin A, researchers began to wonder if Africa's high death rates from measles might also be connected with vitamin A deficiency. Children hospitalized with measles in Tanzania were given vitamin A capsules and, the measles death rate fell by half.

The sad part to the above story is; a similar experiment had been conducted over 50 years ago in a London hospital, with the same evident results.

One of the UN's recommendations for Africa, actually causes billions of dollars to be taken out of their social funds, education, health projects, infrastructure and rural development, and redirected into sex education – No clean water but plenty of condoms.

The incidence of acquired polio and its death rate was already declining much before the advent of the Salk vaccine. And, there is no truly credible scientific evidence that the vaccine attributed to the eradication of polio anyway. As a matter of scientific fact, cases of polio increased after mass inoculations.

The United States Centre for Disease Control (CDC) admitted that the vaccine has become the dominant cause of polio in the US today, with 87% of cases between 1973 and 1983 caused by the vaccine. More recently, 1980 to 1989, every case of polio in the US was caused by the vaccine. Doctors and scientists on the staff of the National Institute of Health during the 1950's were well aware that the Salk vaccine was ineffective and deadly. Some have stated that it was; "worthless as a preventative and dangerous to take".

The Salk "inactivated" or "killed-virus" was actually regulated to permit 5,000 live viruses per million doses.

A large vaccine trial in 1955 showed a total failure of the Salk vaccine to protect against poliomyelitis. During a 1959 epidemic in Massachusetts, 77.5% of the paralytic cases had received three or more doses of the inactivated vaccine.

In 1956 with the infamous Francis Field Trials, they discovered large numbers of children contracted polio after receiving the vaccine. Instead of removing the vaccine from the market, they decided to exclude from the statistics all cases of polio that occurred within 30 days after vaccination, on the pretext that such cases were "pre-existing".

In 1958 mass vaccination triggered a disastrous increase in polio, the highest being 700% in Ottawa, Canada. The highest incidence in the USA occurred in those states which had been induced to adopt compulsory polio shots.

Companies (four of the five) which were manufacturing Salk vaccine stopped production of the vaccine, due to its failure, but primarily as a result of lawsuits filed against them.

As recently as the '90s, some tourist visiting the Dominican Republic, and who had been vaccinated with the polio virus in an effort to feel safe, started a modern day outbreak by infecting the local people there that weren't vaccinated.

If human beings weren't made to live like pigs, literally, living amongst their own filth and excrement, while a certain few live in palatial surroundings, then perhaps we would see a whole lot less of these dreaded diseases, and so too, the equally heinous vaccinations.

I have no doubt in my mind that vaccination is a filthy process, that is harmful in the end, and that it is little short of taking beef. Mohandas Gandhi – 1869-1948
